Sub- System improvement regarding rotation of officials working in sensitive posts and cooling off period between two postings in a sensitive seat .

As per extant policy, officials manning sensitive posts should be rotated as a part of preventive vigilance strategy to avoid developing vested interests. Further, an official who has been transferred from a particular post under the policy should not be posted back on the same seat for a minimum period of two years, which should be followed in both letter and spirit.

However, during vigilance investigation, it is noticed that some officials working in sensitive posts have been transferred back to the same posts or with posts with same allotments of works violating the above provisions

It is , therefore, requested to all concerned to strictly follow the above provisions as a part of preventive vigilance strategy.
